THE CITY OF HAMILTON PLANNING COMMITTEE
Hello Lisa,

I have been following the initial stages of the JvN/d proposed project at James/Ferrie with great interest and would like to write a few words of support in advance of the Planning Committee hearing on June 4. I live in the Keith neighbourhood, near Barton and Wentworth, and have been a Hamilton resident for 7 years.

It is refreshing and, indeed, amazing that a developer is able (and willing) to put together a project like this using market principles and without relying on major subsidization. I strongly believe that this project (and others like it) need to be supported by the municipal government. Hamilton is in a growth phase again and I believe we have the potential to continue and enhance our vision of inclusivity - where the larger market forces are balanced by city council guidance.

I sincerely believe and hope that the Planning Committee will continue to be guided by an overall vision of what this amazing city is and can be.

Thank you,

Per Kleefisch

Hi, Lisa Chamberlain:

Attached please find an .html document which delves into several aspects related to the project, as well as some of the broader topic of affordable housing and homelessness.

I have submitted this as I am unable to attend the June 4 public meeting (I am in China until June 5.)

I hope you don't find the document overwhelming. I have tried to keep the extra perhaps helpful info in a Supplemental section. By the sheer numbers of references and articles on the internet that pertain to housing issues, it is clear that it is a concern that is quite here for the long term.

I am interested in many aspects related to housing, and so some of the information may be insufficiently relevant to Hamilton City's Design Panel concerns for the home:front project. I apologize for being long-winded and for digressing.

I look forward to your approval of the project proposal set out by architect JvN/d and his team. It could be a model that many cities and towns elsewhere could adapt.

Sincerely,

Stephen Watson

Hi, Emily:
I filled in the feedback form.
Did it arrive okay?
I paste it below for backup.
It's written in my open and inclusive style, with quotes and references that go beyond local boundaries but intrinsically help establish new proximities and spur new dialogues.

Thoughts in support of the JvN/d home:front project

1) Yes, certainly. For those who are serious about lifting themselves out of poverty or near poverty, the JvN/d financial arrangement offered by architect van Nostrand gives a chance to those to whom established banks and credit unions do not cater. A unit in home:front will likely increase in value and increase in equity and thus give the owner a good credit rating, confidence in the future, and more favourable standing in today's money-conscious society.

2) I love the idea of rooftop gardens. Apart from having a cooling effect for the residents on the top floor, the gardens could provide some fresh veggies, nuts, fruit. In addition, under the recommendations of some permaculture experts, along with the input from h:f residents, rooftop raised beds would give both young and old the opportunity to see Nature in her full potential and beauty, as well as save some money.

Tailored to a small environment, the rooftop could have a bonsai section, as well as power-generating cycling machines for residents to put back into the grid while at the same time keeping fit. Areas with solar ovens would allow for rooftop picnics or parties in the daytime or evening, and star and city skyline gazing at night.

The widening of the sidewalk on the Ferrie Street side allows for the inclusion of some carefully chosen shade trees and park benches. Moreover, those with western, southern, or eastern facing units, have some latitude and freedom of expression in decorating their balcony with plants or solar devices. Not quite to the extent of architect Luciano Pia's 25 Verde, but perhaps similar to his design but on a smaller scale!

The building design is functional and modern and allows for a higher populated density with a smaller ecological footprint. Solar light wells could help sunlight penetrate those units facing more to the north or not on the periphery. This minimal space living and close proximity of fellow dwellers facilitates more human interaction, and allows one to get to know one's neighbours. We are not talking tiny houses here, but tiny condos in an open-concept DIY interior, giving free-range and income possibilities for unit owners. Removing load bearing walls while still allowing for sound-proof, lightweight, movable partitions between units gives the owner flexibility to alter, remove, add interior elements with relative ease.

The use of different building materials and textures will give an attractive and varied appearance to the facade.

3) Streetscape was covered in the previous section. Hardy tree species along the more south-facing sides of the building will help oxygenate and de-carbonize the air. Extra-width of the sidewalks accommodates those in quad-scooters or with walkers. The tradition of including the street names using metal panels in the sidewalk will help remind the occupants of Hamilton's legacy of steel and iron.

Bicycle and tricycle storage and re-charge and maintenance facilities certainly will encourage residents to give up or reduce usage of the a family car. Small footprint ironworks — such as the "Heaven's Door" panels (gates) made using abandoned farming equipment and rural amenities by Bob Dylan in his Black Buffalo Ironworks foundry  — could be used at the entrances to the building, paying tribute in a small way to the iron ore tradition which Dylan grew up with.

The parking area will be underground, and require a lot of excavation. As a former construction volunteer at the arcology prototype Arcosantiin Arizona, I am in favour of slowing down and supporting the return of walking as the main mode of personal transport. We now have apps such as Uber and carshare apps (rent a car by the hour). Greener transport (bikes, ebikes, scooters, e-scooters) with apps and hardware within easy reach (such as Sobi, Bolt, Lime, Bird, Jump, Lyft, Spin, Skip) gives us a wide range of choices other than the default fossil fuel burning car, truck, bus.

If excavation is to be done, it might be worthwhile to consider putting in some geothermal wells, giving almost free heat or cool air to warm and cool the building in winter and summer. I will not explore the geothermal route in this paper.

"The so-called housing shortage, so much talked about in the press these days, cannot be simply dismissed by admitting that the working class is generally living in bad, overcrowded, and unhealthy apartments... The term "housing crisis", as it is currently understood, essentially stands for nothing other than the worsening of the already miserable housing conditions, caused by the influx of people into the cities..." I hope the architect’s plan and vision dovetails with the minds of Hamilton's urban designers. If the population of the city is to increase by at least 50% in the next ten to fifteen years, we must favour housing solutions that do not require additional land currently owned by struggling farmers; in other words, it needs add a moderate vertical dimension to the landscape without widening the perimeter.

How to reference the project
Perhaps the project needs a better name than homefront.
We already have harbourfront, waterfront, lakefront, bayfront. We need something that refers to Hamilton's steel mill background. Something like Anvil Associates, Anvil Village, Anvil Collective, Anvil Abodes, Anvil Hive, Hamilton Hive Initiative, Hamilton Hive Housing and Retail, Anvil Anchor, Anchor Estates, Co-operate, BayAreaCollective, Ancilla, Ancilla Housing Collective, Ancilla Housing Coop, BayAreaHousing, BayAreaServices, PierNear, condomondo,...

ancilla plural ancillae: an aid to achieving or mastering something difficult (from the Latin where it meant female servant)
But, since the architect has given it the name homefront, I will stick to that for now.

SUPPLEMENTAL STARTS

Quick look at some housing developments in cities worldwide

What follows below is news about various housing projects. They are not all similar to homefront, but often look at smaller projects such as pocket suites. Some links point to tiny house projects which (when taken collectively) indicate the changing perspective of millennials and others who choose to live as urban nomads: that less is more and we must reduce our carbon footprint and harmful housing habits.

Let’s (as warm-up) have a look at what other cities are doing in the area of housing, then we will look at Hamilton’s forum on the topic. What follows is supplemental to our discussion. It can be bypassed if you wish.

Small collection of websites wherein various cities try to resolve the problems and challenges of city homelessness and affordable housing

But first we should look at some newly minted (or revived) terminology that has become part and parcel with this urban housing revolution:

Some relevant terms and interesting websites

- tiny house movement — A movement where people design and build small cottages with floor area from less than 100sf (23sm) to 200 or 300sf (not sure of upper limit). They are often built on a trailer, allowing the owner to easily re-locate. Many are off-grid, but still manage to design in overhead showers, hot tubs, radiant floor heat, cooling vents, repurposing grey and black water,

- pocket housing — occupies usually a single building lot from which its previous building has been demolished and replaced by a specially designed compact building of mini-suites, often with common shared spaces.

pocket 'hoods (different definition) http://pocket-neighborhoods.net/whatisPN.html
Next, still — as part of our preparation to look at Hamilton’s improved housing options — we will now look first at some projects underway in other cities. Although not identical to homefront, the sheer magnitude of the scope of links and projects indeed shows that the city is a magnet and that young people are often becoming their own developers and builders, opting for smaller living quarters for short stays. There is also the added task of cleaning and maintaining the several thousand square feet of interior space in a monster suburban villa (which still seems to be the preferred choice for many couples and families).

HAMILTON

It has been reported that Hamilton city council is having a serious look at laneway housing as a solution to homelessness in the city. This concern has been raised in 2012, 2016, 2017, and now 2019. What were the outcomes? Time may be spent looking at a topic, but following up with practical action is the real test of success. Let’s hope that the homefront project will infuse a new ethic and vision, and the surrounding community be uplifted.

We all know that laneway housing requires lanes and the built roadway grid. One benefit is that it does add to urban density and it could be a solution for homelessness.

Homefront breaks new ground. Its minimalist approach, its flexibility of interior design and use, its innovative financial model, its inclusion of shared spaces — all offer considerable advantage and quick appeal to anyone informed of the trends and alternatives that bypass the mainstream realtors with their sky-high rental rates and astronomical selling prices.

Let’s do more with less and all get behind the 8-ball for the JvN/d Homefront project!

Hi, Lisa Chamberlain:

I tried to attach a very interesting e-zine, IMAGINE issue 2. But the file was over the limit for attachments to hamilton.ca.

This issue is called IMAGINE: Exploring the brave new world of shared living.

The link below should open up the pdf file, and hopefully the City Design Panel members can enjoy its many articles and insights.

Hello Lisa Chamberlain:

I am a former and prospective resident of Hamilton, I would like to record my support for the above project. It is an innovative and affordable housing proposal that will enhance the city downtown and environs.

Re: Incremental Changes to the City of Hamilton's Official Plan

Dear Mr. Robichaud,

On behalf of the <INSERT NEIGHBOURHOOD ASSOCIATION NAME HERE>, I’m writing to indicate that we are aware that there are applications currently under review, including 468 James Street North in the North End, which seek to make “ad hoc” or incremental changes to the City’s Official Plan.

We are not supportive of this method of changing the Official Plan, or other secondary and neighbourhood plans, that focuses on changes in response individual development applications.

Instead, changes to approved secondary plans should be carried out in a manner that enables the neighbourhood to assess, study, and contribute to potential changes in a comprehensive manner rather than attempting to deal with one project at a time.

Sincerely,

Robyn Gillam
Hi Lisa,

My name is Nick Dika and I've been a resident of the North End for six years now. I live on Ferrie street just west of McNab.

I'm sending an email to lend my support to the JVND development on James St. North. As the city continues to grow and develop, I think it's very important to prioritize affordable housing and believe the JVND team is looking at innovative and inclusive solutions when it comes to housing in the city.

I'm unable to attend Tuesday's Planning Committee meeting but I wanted to send an email letting you know that the project is one that I support and hope gets approved by the city.

Thanks for your time and consideration,

Nick Dika
Hi Lisa
   I can not make the meeting
I am a widow, semi retired.
Would like to be fully retired but my income is not enough.
The housing project is a wonderful plan.
There are more seniors that every who are in need of affordable housing
I am now renting in the North end and would like to be able to stay in this area.
I am looking forward to hearing more about this project.
Please keep me informed
Thank you

Jo-Ann Tetreault
Dear Sir/Madam,

RE: Development application for 468-476 James Street North

I write to express my support for the proposed development at 468-476 James Street North.

I am a single parent living in a rented property in the North End, since 2015. My child attends Bennetto Public School. We love our neighbourhood and hope to be able to stay here long term and grow the roots we have already put down. The biggest barrier to us staying in the area is the affordability of housing. I hope to be able to own my home in the future, but that will be very challenging based on my income and the average property prices in the North End. Hence it is with great interest that I have followed the design and consultation for the proposed development by JvN/d as a place that could offer feasible home ownership to someone like me. I think that the proposal is innovative and progressive and it will set a benchmark for other housing developments in Hamilton and across Canada.

Best regards
Kate Berry
Hamilton,
Re: Item 8.3 June 4, 2019 Planning Committee agenda, 468-476 James Street North

Dear City Planning Committee:

If we as a city are to meet the growing and serious need for affordable housing in Hamilton, the city of Hamilton needs to act with all the flexibility it can and to strongly encourage innovative solutions. By affordable, I mean housing that costs less than 30 per cent of gross household income for the lowest 60 per cent of income earners—the definition in the city’s Housing and Homelessness Action Plan.

I know the city has made significant and important efforts to tackle the issue, so I’m not being critical. Yet key targets elude us. The city’s Official Plan and Housing and Homeless Action Plan goal of 300 new affordable units a year is not close to being met. Each year only about a third of that target has been achieved since the action plan was approved in 2013. The action plan set a goal of reducing the wait list for subsidized housing by 50 per cent by 2023. Yet the list has grown by 25 per cent, as rents keep rising and affordable units become harder to find.

JvN/d’s proposal for 468-476 James North is both flexible and tremendously innovative: flexible sized units, flexible construction including sweat equity, flexible tenure (own and rent) and flexible and innovative financing. And if NvN/d can actually deliver condo ownership to people earning as little as $25,000 a year, that is startling. Households with that income are not be able to afford the average rent in the city, let alone buy even the cheapest house.

Yet I share neighbours’ concerns that an eight-storey building exceeds the standard set by the secondary plan for the neighbourhood and that the planning department’s justification for exceeding the standard may set a precedent for other developments, most of which will not bring the benefits of affordable housing that the JvN/d plan does.

If eight storeys is needed to make this project viable, and to make it possible to provide housing that is affordable, let me suggest a possibility that would appear not to set such a negative precedent.

It would be preferable to permit the extra storeys for 468-476 James North as a trade-off for the community benefit of affordable housing units. Such trade-offs are allowed under Section 37 of the Planning Act and in Chapter F, Section 1.9, of the city’s Urban Official Plan. That section allows the city to permit greater height or density than allowed in the zoning bylaw in return for securing community benefits that include affordable housing. Proceeding that way, there would be only a limited precedent for future taller buildings, justifiable only if they too provide the community benefit of affordable units.

Respectfully submitted,

Bill Johnston

RECOMMENDATIONS

(a) That Council adopt the submissions and recommendations as provided in Report LS19020/PED19125 regarding Schedules 5, 9, 11, and 12 of Bill 108, More Homes, More Choice Act, 2019;

(b) That the Director of Planning and Chief Planner be authorized and directed to confirm the submissions made to the Province attached as Appendix “A” to Report LS19020/PED19125;

(c) That the Director of Planning and Chief Planner and the City Solicitor be authorized to make submissions on Bill 108, More Homes, More Choice Act,
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

On May 2, 2019, Bill 108, More Homes, More Choice Act, 2019, was introduced at the Ontario Legislature. If enacted, this Bill would make amendments to 13 different statutes; the purpose of this Report is to provide information on the changes proposed to be made to the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal Act, 2017, the Ontario Heritage Act, the Planning Act and the Endangered Species Act.

Changes to the Ontario Heritage Act include new timeframes and notice provisions including when a property is added to the Register and permitting property owners to object to their property being included in the Register, to permit demolition or removal of a property in a Heritage Conservation District only if it would not affect the property's heritage attributes as listed in the Heritage Conservation District Plan, and that all municipal heritage appeals will be heard by the LPAT instead of the Conservation Review Board.

Changes to the Planning Act include restricting where Inclusionary Zoning can be applied, reduced development application processing timelines, deletion of Section 37 and replacement with a Community Benefits Charge and deletion of the alternative parkland dedication requirements based on density.

Further changes to the Planning Act relate to changes to the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal Act, 2017. Those amendments remove previous changes made to the planning appeals process that introduced a threshold test for appealing from major land use planning decisions, reducing the first appeal to a summary hearing on the threshold test, and providing municipalities the opportunity to make a second decision. Those changes were made as part of Bill 139 which reformed the Ontario Municipal Board process; Bill 108 reverts the planning appeal process back to the OMB de novo hearing procedures.

Changes to the Endangered Species Act include broadening the Committee on the Status of Species at Risk in Ontario (COSSARO) member qualifications to include members with expertise in "community knowledge", requiring COSSARO to consider a species' condition around its broader biologically relevant geographic area, inside and outside of Ontario before classifying a species as endangered or threatened and increased discretionary powers to be given to the Minister.

Staff do not support the proposed changes to the Ontario Heritage Act, Planning Act, Endangered Species Act, and Local Planning Appeal Tribunal Act, 2017.
The Province has not released information on the regulations required for implementation of Bill 108 and therefore it is not possible to fully understand the implications of the changes proposed by this Bill.

The deadline for comments on Bill 108 is June 1, 2019. As such and given the timing, staff-level comments have been submitted to the Province and through this Report and are contained at Appendix “A” to Report LS19020/PED19125. If the recommendations of this Report are approved by Council, the Director of Planning and Chief Planner will notify the Province that the submissions that were made have been adopted by Council for the City of Hamilton.

FINANCIAL – STAFFING – LEGAL IMPLICATIONS

Financial: Bill 108 will have financial implications on the City. The degree and magnitude are unknown at this time, but largely implicate the changes to section 37, parkland, and the development charges regime. Some of these implications are more fully described in the May 14, 2019 Information Report provided by Finance and Corporate Services.

Staffing: At this time, Bill 108 only proposes changes and there are no staffing implications at this time. However, if Bill 108 is enacted as currently drafted, there will be staffing resourcing implications associated with the changes.

Legal: Legal Services and the Planning Division will continue to monitor the status of Schedules 5, 9, 11 and 12 of Bill 108 and report back where necessary with recommendations for the implementation of Bill 108, if enacted.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Under the previous Provincial government, the planning system was reviewed, and changes were made through Bill 139 that resulted in various changes to the Planning Act and with the creation of the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal. (It should be noted that at that time, there were no changes to the Ontario Heritage Act ("OHA") other than technical amendments or to the Endangered Species Act). Those changes came into force on April 4, 2018.

On May 2, 2019, Bill 108, More Homes, More Choice Act, 2019, was introduced in the Legislative Assembly and received first reading. This Report serves to provide an update on the proposed legislative changes only as they relate to Schedule 5 (changes to the Endangered Species Act), Schedule 9 (changes to the Local Planning Appeal
ANALYSIS AND RATIONALE FOR RECOMMENDATIONS

Changes to the Ontario Heritage Act, Planning Act and Endangered Species Act

In summary, staff are not supportive of the proposed changes to the Ontario Heritage Act, the Planning Act or the Endangered Species Act. The proposed changes will have an impact on the City’s finances, the ability to secure parkland, the evaluation of development applications, the conservation of heritage resources and the protection of endangered species. The proposed changes should not proceed without the appropriate regulations and meaningful consultation with municipalities.

An analysis of the proposed changes, including implications and recommendations, is included in Appendix “B”, “C” and “D” to Report LS19020/PED19125.

Should the Province proceed with the proposed changes, staff will report back to Council on any development application process changes and staffing implications expected.

Changes to Planning Appeals Processes and Procedures

Bill 108 proposes a number of changes to the Planning Act and the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal Act, 2017 that make significant changes to the land use planning appeals process. Largely, these have the result of returning the process to that of the former Ontario Municipal Board. It is unclear how these changes would support the stated goal of bring more homes to market faster. Some of those changes are noted below:

Shortened timelines for municipal decisions, no timeline for LPAT decisions

In order to file for an appeal of a non-decision, the time periods are proposed to be reduced significantly. The power of the Minister to create regulations setting a time period for LPAT decisions to be made within is also proposed to be deleted, which means that the regulation that sets out the time periods for LPAT decisions will likely be repealed. The result of this change is that while the time for a municipality to consider an application has shrunk, the period of time in which the LPAT may consider a matter will be unfettered. These changes will likely result in a greater number of non-decision appeals, creating an increased workload for the LPAT, resulting lengthy periods for the resolution of appeals.
Return to “good planning” test and de novo hearings

One of the significant aspects of the Bill relates to the reform of the LPAT’s hearing process to restructure the hearing process, remove the deferential test established by Bill 139, and return to the pre-LPAT OMB de novo hearing. As a result of Bill 139, a “first appeal” process was created that requires an appellant to base its appeal on Provincial policy/plan consistency/conformity, with the matter being returned to Council for further consideration. This step was created to give greater weight to municipal decisions and to deter appeals.

Bill 108 would remove that process and revert to the de novo style hearing. The de novo hearing was the lengthy hearing that included submissions by the parties along with the calling and examining of witnesses and evidence. The test in those appeals is merely “good planning”, which sometimes results in municipal decisions being overturned, despite the municipal position being good planning, because another position was regarded as “better” planning.

Certain appeals limited

There were a few changes made that would limit certain types of appeals: there is no appeal related to parts of an official plan that are necessary to establish a develop permit system that was required to be created by the Minister.

For matters where the City needs approval from the Ministry for an official plan amendment, if the Ministry fails to make a decision within 120 days, those decisions may now only be appealed by the City or the applicant (if the amendment is in response to an application).

Potential for mandatory mediation

Bill 108 introduces changes to the legislation that would allow the Tribunal to create rules that would require mandatory mediation or other alternative dispute resolution in proceedings. Mandatory mediation has the potential to result in mediations where one or more parties are forced to participate where they are unable or unwilling to compromise. This then could result in wasted time and resources in these proceedings.

Limitations on community involvement in hearings

One of the proposed changes would result in the limitation of a participant in a hearing to only written submissions being filed. Previously, under the Ontario Municipal Board process, a participant to a proceeding had the ability to make oral submissions to the Board, as well as provide written material. The participant could have been subject to questioning by the parties. Given this proposed new restriction, this may result in a greater number of participants seeking party status in proceedings to protect their right to participate more fully in the proceeding.

Ability to set differential fees for different types of proceedings

One of the changes made to the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal Act, 2017 permits the Tribunal to set different fees for different types of proceedings and “different classes of persons”. It is unknown at this time how the LPAT may exercise this power, but the fee structure for various types of appeals would have an impact on the ability for some to participate in proceedings.

Transitioning of existing appeals

It is unclear at this time how the Province would transition existing appeals before the LPAT if Bill 108 is enacted. Currently, there are two “streams” of appeals at the LPAT: matters commenced under the OMB process, known as “OMB legacy appeals”, as well as appeals commenced under the LPAT system.

There has been an existing backlog of both types of matters: the OMB legacy appeals have been somewhat stalled as the Province had frozen the LPAT’s ability to fill vacant positions resulting the LPAT not having a full complement of adjudicators to handle those appeals. These appeals are currently being scheduled as far out as late-2020. Current LPAT process appeals have been slowed down given the conflicts that have arisen regarding the proper interpretation and implementation of the amended legislation.

Nevertheless, the provisions in Bill 108 permit the Minister to create transition regulations that contain rules for the transitioning of appeals that were commenced before, on or after the Bill comes into force.

Given the re-creation of the OMB process, this could result in three streams of appeal types, adding to the complexity of the procedures for matters currently before the Tribunal.

Changes to Heritage Appeals Processes and Procedures

Bill 108 makes significant changes to the objections and appeals proceedings for heritage matters. Most of these types of matters currently proceed typically before the Conservation Review Board (“CRB”), with demolition matters proceeding to the LPAT.
The CRB considers matters and reports back to municipal councils who have the power of the final decision; the CRB does not issue binding decisions on municipalities.

The changes proposed would result in the elimination of the CRB's involvement in municipal heritage objections and appeals and instead those matters would be sent to the LPAT for final determination. The changes would introduce new appeals related to designations and alterations.

Generally speaking, the changes proposed to the Ontario Heritage Act collectively result in a more rigid and litigious process for heritage matters. While there are still quite a number of unknowns, what has been drafted so far in the Bill will likely result in an increase in challenges to heritage matters for the City.

Procedural Next Steps

At the time of the drafting of this Report, Bill 108 was being debated at Second Reading at the Legislative Assembly. Should the Province wish to proceed with this Bill, it may be subject to further discussion at a standing committee and may be debated further in Third Reading. If it passes Third Reading, it can receive Royal Assent whereupon Bill 108 becomes law. However, the Bill's changes would only come into force upon each individual schedule's proclamation.

There are a significant number of proposed changes that necessitate the creation of regulations. As indicated, no regulations have been proposed at this time, making it difficult to understand the implications of the changes. It is unknown whether the City will be consulted as a stakeholder in the creation of those instruments.

Given the short time in which staff had to review this Bill, and in addition to the unknowns with respect to the regulations necessary to implement the changes proposed in the Bill, a further report discussing the changes in further detail along with implementation measures will be prepared for Council's consideration if the Bill is enacted.

ALIGNMENT TO THE 2016 – 2025 STRATEGIC PLAN

Community Engagement and Participation
Hamilton has an open, transparent and accessible approach to City government that engages with and empowers all citizens to be involved in their community.

Our People and Performance
Hamiltonians have a high level of trust and confidence in their City government.

Re: Bill 108 - (Schedule 5) – The Proposed More Homes, More Choice Act: Amendments to the Endangered Species Act

Dear Sir or Madam:

On behalf of the City of Hamilton, I am pleased to provide this letter as Hamilton’s submission on Schedule 5 of Bill 108. Please find attached to this letter an outline of the key submissions the City wishes to make on the proposed changes to the Endangered Species Act. The City is also submitting comments on the other Schedules of Bill 108 under separate letter and City staff will be taking a report to Planning Committee on June 4, 2019 and to Council on June 12, 2019 outlining our submission. Council’s position will be forwarded to the Province once it has been ratified.

We look forward to seeing the results of the consultation on Bill 108. City staff would be pleased to meet with you to discuss these comments in greater detail.

Sincerely,

City of Hamilton Submissions on Bill 108 – Changes to the Endangered Species Act

Staff are not supportive of the proposed changes as they will have the effect of adding additional processes and delay to the classification, listing, and protection of species at risk. Changes are also being proposed which may undermine the role of COSSARO. The proposed changes are not detailed therefore it is difficult for staff to fully assess the implications without the details.

- Staff recommends that "community knowledge" be deleted.
- Staff recommends that the consideration of species condition in a broader geographic context be deleted.
- Staff recommends that the extension of timing to add species to the Species at Risk list be deleted.
- Staff recommends that the reconsideration of classifications be deleted.
- Staff recommends that the mandatory requirement and timeline to develop a habitat regulation for each newly listed species and temporary suspension to protect of up to three years be deleted.
- Staff recommends that the discretion remain with the Lieutenant Governor in Council.
- Staff advises the Province not to proceed until the Province consults with municipalities and other key stakeholders on the SAR Conservation Fund, the details of the agency, including who would be on the board, and where and funds would be dispersed.
- Staff advises the Province not to proceed until the Province consults with municipalities and other key stakeholders on the Landscape Agreements.

Re: Bill 108 - (Schedule 11) - The Proposed More Homes, More Choice Act: Amendments to the Ontario Heritage Act

Dear Madam:

On behalf of the City of Hamilton, I am pleased to provide this letter as Hamilton's submission on Schedule 11 of Bill 108. Please find attached to this letter an outline of the key submissions the City wishes to make on the proposed changes to the Ontario Heritage Act. City of Hamilton Submissions on Bill 108 – Changes to the Ontario Heritage Act

Staff are not supportive of the proposed changes as it will have an impact on how the City administers the Act and its current processes. The proposed changes in some case will lengthen the process, delaying projects, and will require additional staff resources with added complexity to processes. The changes proposed by Bill 108 may result in increased appeals to the LPAT as the addition of properties to the Register can now be appealed to the LPAT.

The Ontario Heritage Act is a tool for managing change of heritage resources that balances both public and private interests. The proposed changes to the Act tip the balance away from public interest to the interest of private owners/developers. In particular, the City is not supportive of the transfer of objections on heritage matters to the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal.

The following are the City’s comments and recommendations:

- Staff advises the Province to consult with municipalities on the “prescribed principles” and that the regulation should clearly describe what constitutes a “prescribed principle”.

- Staff advise the Province that a time limit for filing an objection for a property added to the Register with the Clerk be included.

- Staff requests the Province to remove the requirement that the property be on the Register before the building permit application is made.

- Staff advise the Province that there should be no limitations as to when Council may provide notice of an intention to designate. Should the Province proceed with including this requirement, the Province should consult with municipalities on the “prescribed event” and the regulation should clearly describe what constitutes a “prescribed event” prior to proceeding with these proposed changes to the Act.

- Staff requests that the Province reinstate referral of objections to the Conservation Review Board for a hearing and report and Council as the final decision making authority on objections to designations.

- Staff requests that the Province reinstate referral of objections to the Conservation Review Board for a hearing and report.

- Staff advises the Province to consult with municipalities on the “prescribed” information and that the regulation should clearly describe what constitutes “prescribed” information.

- Staff requests that the Province delete this regulation to continue to provide protection from demolition of heritage resources in a Heritage Conservation District Plan area.

City of Hamilton Submissions on Bill 108 – Changes to the Planning Act

In general, the City is not supportive of the proposed changes. The changes will provide municipalities with less time to adequately review development applications and impact the City's ability to increase the supply of affordable housing. Furthermore, the changes will decrease the deference given to municipal decision-making in achieving these and other goals.

The following are the City's comments and recommendations:

- Staff supports the proposed change that expands the opportunities for second units throughout the City. Issues such as compatibility, context and appropriate zoning standards need to be evaluated.

- Staff do not support the proposed change to restrict inclusionary zoning to limited areas in the City. This proposed change will restrict the City's ability to increase the supply of affordable housing. Staff requests the Province to permit municipalities to utilize the inclusionary zoning provisions City wide.

- Staff do not support the Minister requiring a development permit system to be put in place as this should be up to municipalities.

- Staff do not support the proposed change to delete the grounds for appeals. Staff requests the Province to retain the existing Planning Act grounds for appeals given that the Official Plan is the tool for translating provincial plans and policies into a local land use vision.

- Staff do not support the proposed changes to the timeframe for non-decision appeals. Staff requests the Province to retain the existing Planning Act timeframes.

- Staff do not support the proposed changes. Staff requests the Province to retain the existing criteria for parkland dedication.

- Staff do not support the proposed changes to who may appeal a decision on a Plan of Subdivision. Staff requests the Province to retain the existing Planning Act appeal rights.
Schedule 11 - Changes to the Ontario Heritage Act

The following is a summary of the proposed changes to the Ontario Heritage Act:

- Establishing “prescribed events and principles” that shall be considered when making decisions.

- New timeframes and notice provisions including when a property is added to the Register. Municipalities will need to provide notice within 30 days of a property being added to the Register and property owners will be able to object to their property being included in the Register.

- With respect to Heritage Conservation Districts, Bill 108 will permit demolition or removal only if it would not affect the property’s heritage attributes as listed in the Heritage Conservation District Plan. If the heritage attributes are not specifically listed, the Act does not prohibit demolition or removal.

- Bill 108 will now require that all appeals be heard by the LPAT instead of the Conservation Review Board and has expanded the powers of the LPAT from the power the Conservation Review Board previously had. The power to make a final decision on designating a property has been removed from Council and now rests with the LPAT which will be final and binding.

The following is a detailed summary of the proposed changes, implications for the City of Hamilton and staff recommendations to the Province. Staff are not supportive of the proposed changes as it will have an impact on how the City administers the Act and its current processes. The proposed changes in some case will lengthen the process, delaying projects, and will require additional staff resources with added complexity to processes. The changes proposed by Bill 108 may result in increased appeals to the LPAT as the addition of properties to the Register can now be appealed to the LPAT.

The Ontario Heritage Act is a tool for managing change of heritage resources that balances both public and private interests. The proposed changes to the Act tip the balance away from public interest to the interest of private owners/developers.

Schedule 12 – Changes to the Planning Act

The following is a summary of the proposed changes to the Planning Act:

- Inclusionary zoning restricted to major transit station areas or where a development permit system is in place.
- Decrease in timeframes for non-decision appeals for Official Plan Amendments, Zoning By-law Amendments, and Plans of Subdivision.
- Appeals for Plans of Subdivision and Condominium limited to applicant, municipality, Minister or public body.
- Repeal of Section 37 and replacement with a Community Benefits Charge.
- Parkland dedication by-law is no longer in effect once a Community Benefits Charge By-law has been passed.
- The alternative parkland dedication requirements based on density have been removed.
- Removal of the threshold test for consistency/conformity with relevant policies and plans, returning to “good planning” review powers by Local Planning Appeal Tribunal.

The following is a detailed summary of the proposed changes, implications for the City of Hamilton and staff recommendations to the Province. In summary, with the exception of second unit policies, Staff are not supportive of the proposed changes.

Schedule 5 – Changes to the Endangered Species Act, 2007

Summary of proposed changes to the Endangered Species Act:

- Broaden Committee on the Status of Species at Risk in Ontario (COSSARO) member qualifications include members with expertise in “community knowledge”.

- Requiring COSSARO to consider a species' condition around its broader biologically relevant geographic area, inside and outside of Ontario, before classifying a species as endangered or threatened.

- Increased discretionary powers to be given to the Minister.

- Once a new SAR is listed, the Minister may make an order that temporarily suspends all or some of the protections for a period of up to three years.

- New landscape agreements and a SAR Conservation Trust are proposed.

The following is a detailed summary of the proposed changes, implications for the City of Hamilton and recommendations to the Province. Staff are not supportive of the proposed changes as they will have the effect of adding additional processes and delay to the classification, listing, and protection of species at risk. Changes are also being proposed which may undermine the role of COSSARO. The proposed changes are not detailed therefore it is difficult for staff to fully assess the implications without the details.

<td>SAR committee comprised of experts with scientific backgrounds and Aboriginal Traditional Knowledge, classify species as extirpated or extinct, endangered, threatened or special concern. Each species added to the Species at Risk in Ontario (SARO) list is through regulation. Once the species is added, it receives general habitat protection. Currently, COSSARO can submit a report to the Minister at any time and the species must be added to the list within 3 months.</td>
<td>The proposed changes will broaden COSSARO member qualifications to include members with relevant expertise in “community knowledge”. Consideration of Species Condition in a Broader Geographic Context: It is proposed that COSSARO consider a species’ condition around its broader biologically relevant geographic area, inside and outside of Ontario, before classifying a species as endangered or threatened. If the overall risk to a species in the broader relevant geographic area is lower, COSSARO would be required to adjust the species’ classification to the lower category.</td>
<td>would allow non-scientific input into a species classification. It is unclear why the membership of COSSARO needs to be altered. Staff recommends that “community knowledge” be deleted.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

This conflicts with the preamble of the Act, which references the precautionary principle (where there is a threat of significant reduction or loss of biological diversity, lack of full scientific certainty should not be used as a reason for postponing measures to avoid or minimize protection). This approach relies on other jurisdictions to protect SAR and does not consider that species at the northern limit of their range may receive little or no protection, which is particularly important with climate change impacts. Staff recommends that the consideration of species condition in a broader geographic context be deleted. |

<td>Extension of Timing to add Species to SARO List:</td>
<td>The revised ESA proposes to extend the timeframe for making regulations from 3 months to 12 months after receiving the COSSARO Report (Section 7(4)).</td>
<td>It is unclear how this would improve the current process since it would further delay the protection of SAR. Also, it is contrary to the Province's intended purpose of &quot;streamlining processes&quot; and improving &quot;outcomes for the species and its habitat&quot;. Staff recommends that the extension of timing to add species to the Species at Risk list be deleted.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reconsideration of Classifications:</td>
<td>The revised ESA proposes to allow the Minister to reconsider the classification of a species if it is determined that the classification may no longer be appropriate (opinion is to be based on scientific information). For species that are not yet on the list or are listed as special concern, the species would not be added to the SARO list or listed to a more endangered status during COSSARO's re-assessment.</td>
<td>This means that if a party provides scientific opinion which differs from COSSARO's, the classification must be reconsidered if the Minister agrees. Since COSSARO uses the best available knowledge (including emerging trends) to evaluate species, it is unclear what new evidence could be provided that would change the classification. This allows for competing scientific opinions, undermines the role of COSSARO, and delays listing and protection of species.</td>

- The Minister would have the power to make regulations limiting the application of the prohibitions for a species. Limitations may be applied to the prohibitions (examples given are: only applying to geographic areas, or certain stages of the species development).
| Landscape Agreements | N/A | Section 16.1 allows the Minister to enter into Landscape Agreements. A Landscape Agreement allows people who undertake "multiple activities" to be able to pursue limited conservation banking. Conservation banks allow compensation when a species or habitat is affected during development by providing credits that can be purchased to offset their negative impact. The agreement would require that the person take reasonable steps to minimize adverse effects on the species, consider all reasonable alternatives, and undertake beneficial actions. | This approach reduces accountability and does not lend itself to addressing site or species-specific concerns. This approach could result in reductions to species diversity in Hamilton, with compensation provided in other parts of Ontario. Staff advises the Province not to proceed until the Province consults with municipalities and other key stakeholders on the Landscape Agreements. |

NOTICE OF MOTION

Planning Committee Date: June 4, 2019

MOVED BY COUNCILLOR COLLINS

Corporate Policy for Official Planning Notification During Mail Strikes

WHEREAS, the Planning Act prescribes the options the City of Hamilton can use for giving notice of an application to the Committee of Adjustment for a minor variance or severance;

WHEREAS, the two statutory options available to the City of Hamilton are to give notice by placing an advertisement in the newspaper or by first class mail to property owners combined with posting a sign on the property;

WHEREAS, as a result of the most recent mail disruption at Canada Post which required the City of Hamilton to give notice by placing an advertisement in the newspaper; and,

WHEREAS, not all affected residents read the newspaper or what appear to be technical notices placed in the newspaper and residents miss the opportunity to participate in the Committee of Adjustment decision making process;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

That Planning staff report back to Planning Committee on a strategy for informing residents that goes beyond the traditional newspaper advertisement in the event of future disruptions in mail delivery service.
