Subject: Re: Snow removal

As a mobility challenged individual in this city, I've been appalled for decades at the attitude of so many Hamiltonians toward clearing their sidewalks and ramps.

I can point out several hundred (this is not a misprint) private homes on the east mountain alone that have NEVER cleared their sidewalks in DECADES.

Those of us with wheelchairs, mobility scooters, canes and walkers (not to mention small children /strollers) are expected to wait for mother nature to take care of snow and ice removal.

I myself, not counting numerous appointments every month for several things, have to make it to the hospital for hemodialysis 3 times every week. These selfish scoff laws need to be made to understand we AL don't live with a bus stop in front of our homes. That clearing a path the width of a shovel is just a cruel joke to someone chair or walker is more than 18 or 20 inches wide.

I myself have confronted dozens of these people, usually while I'm stuck in front of their houses with my wheelchair. The usual response is shrugged shoulders while they turn and walk back into their warm homes. Once in a Blue moon one will offer to give you a push, which is little help when most times you'll just be stuck again 2 doors down.

Time and time again. I find myself risking my life venturing onto Mohawk road, or Fennell Avenue, or upper Ottawa Street because half a dozen or more sidewalks in a row have not been cleared. And this is usually anywhere from 4 or 5 days Plus after a snowfall.

It seems the general attitude is "I don't need to walk on it, why should I worry about it?".

Of course, if you take the trouble to report these properties to bylaw enforcement....odds are it melts enough in 3-5 days that there's nothing for them to do.

Well there, my daily rant has come to an end. Pointless as usual because the people I'm addressing could care less.

Yours, Kevin A MacDonald.
Double amputee.
Wheelchair rider,
Disgusted citizen.

Hi James,

Almost a week after the significant snowfall, this issue still hasn't been taken care of. There is still a lot of ice on the sidewalks in front of these properties albeit melting. I spoke to Councillor Farr and he believes the properties were issued notices to comply. He said if they didn't, the city would clear the ice themselves and add it to their property tax bill.

I live in an apartment building but if the City reimburses me for the cost of a shovel, salt, and a stipend than I'll gladly do it myself.

There are tenants in my building who use mobility devices who cannot walk on this side of the street because of the ice while sidewalks around the rest of our neighborhood have been cleared for days.

We're in for a long winter and plenty more snowstorms where snow and ice will be an issue. I trust this won't be an ongoing issue and if it is you can bet I'll be hounding the City to make sure this issue is rectified.

Hello,

There has been no snow removal on the south side of Arkledun Avenue between John Street South and Kingsway Drive. I have had to walk through this snow and it's really frustrating considering the sidewalks on other major streets in the area have been clear since yesterday.

I have attached pictures that I took at approximately 3pm today (November 13, 2019).

Can somebody at the City please look into this and address it?

Arthur, thank you for sending this along. As it happens, I had sent several property addresses to by-Law Enforcement with the City on Wednesday and I believe this is among them, but if not, I have copied Enforcement. These properties are issued orders to comply. If they do not, we do go in. Clear the walk properly. And charge them on their taxes.

Hi Paul,

My concern is that the Orders to Comply given to these property owners have no teeth. The City has the power to recoup the money it spends on snow-clearing by adding it to the individual's property taxes but yet again MLE is refusing to exercise this power. Yes the City would be spending the money up front but from what I can tell, these houses are not vacant which means the property owners are paying their property taxes every year. Adding a few hundred dollars to their tax bill might get their attention and force them to start shovelling their sidewalks.

Good Afternoon,

Thank you for contacting the Office of the Mayor.

All snow removal complaints are handled by Municipal Law Enforcement, and all that Members of Council can do is direct citizen queries to the appropriate department beyond passing new City Policy whereby the City would be responsible for sidewalk snow removal as well. Of course, this comes with a cost and at this point in time the City is already experiencing significant budgetary pressures to maintain existing services let alone add new ones in light of Provincial downloading of funding responsibility to the municipality. It's a tough sell at this point in time that I don't anticipate the majority of Council Members would support, despite its obvious benefits to residents.

If you have any specific by-law complaints, contact Municipal Law Enforcement directly at: 905-546-2782 or alternatively you can contact our Office and we will direct them to MLE on your behalf.

Dear Mayor Eisenberger,

My name is Arthur Gallant and I am a constituent in Ward 2. I live on Arkledun Avenue aka The Jolley Cut. Between Kingsway Drive and John Street South, the sidewalk on what I believe is the south side of Arkledun Avenue is not being cleared of snow or ice after a snowfall within the guidelines of the applicable City of Hamilton by-laws. During the significant November 2019 snowfall, I complained to both the by-law department and Councillor Farr. Below are their responses. While the City has the power to hire contractors and charge the property owners by adding it to their property tax bill, the City did not do so the last time around. I have not complained to Councillor Farr nor the By-Law department again because I'm almost certain they'll give me the exact same response.

As you're well aware, there was another significant snowfall this past weekend. I just came back from a walk to Jackson Square and while every other sidewalk on virtually every other street has been cleared, the sidewalk on my side of the street has not. I live at Arkledun Avenue and many of neighbours use walkers and other mobility devices and cannot walk on our side of the road. Yes they could cross the street but which is clear but that isn't the point.

While this may be a relatively minor issue in the grand scheme of things, I am fed-up! Why did City Council pass snow-clearing/sidewalk clearing by-laws if they refuse to use the power contained in the by-laws? It isn't fair that every other side on every other major street/thoroughfare has been cleared of snow and ice except my street!

With all due respect Your Worship, in my opinion it's issues like this that frustrate taxpayers the most. If the City is refusing to use its powers contained within the aforementioned by-law, perhaps you should rescind the by-law or pass a by-law saying property owners won't face any repercussions for not clearing the sidewalks in front of their property because that's clearly what's happening.

I would appreciate if you or your staff could get back to me about why the City is choosing to let this issue slide.

Yours truly,

Arthur Gallant

To: Arthur Gallant

We really do not have the resources to shovel unintended walkways at the 24 hour mark following a storm, Arthur. As well, enforcement methods almost always offer time for those who receive orders time to comply.

The alternative is to have the City of Hamilton clear all sidewalks in the City of Hamilton. Last year, that was a non-starter in the budget debate. I did however ask staff to come back with costs on covering the clearing of walk in high pedestrian areas (downtowns and places with high seniors populations). We should be looking at this in the coming months.

I wish I could offer a better answer(s) for you, Arthur. Like you, I am extremely frustrated at the lack of considerations by the few who refuse to clear their walks soon after a winter event. It is very bad form. Right now, I am exercising what authority we currently have in place and which understandably you find does not go far enough.

With all due respect Councillor Farr, waiting until over a week after the snow has fallen before sending a contractor in is irritable to say the least. The snow and ice is melting. I see people smoking on the porch of . John Street South get the sidewalk in front of their property hasn't been cleared.

Everyday I walk from my apartment to Central Library. On Friday I walked along Hunter, Locke, Charlton and Herkimer and the ice and snow removal was a non-issue. I know the City can't hold a gun to property owners heads but the by-laws are perfectly clear as to what the responsibilities of property owners are and the City's powers to intervene.

It's issues like these that make people lack faith in their governments and complain about not seeing results over what feels like a small yet straightforward issue.

Hello Mr. Gallant

Thank you for your email. I hope you are recovering well from your surgery. I am the Manager of Municipal Law Enforcement and I have investigated your concerns. Upon receipt of your email I have asked my staff to put this area of concern on our HOT LIST of properties as a priority, as we would want our residents to have the earliest, safe access after a snow storm. Our officers will be in this area on a Pro-Active basis moving forward.

Municipal Law Enforcement has issued multiple Orders to clear the snow in the area of Kingsway and John Street. The enforcement of the Snow Removal Bylaw sits with our department to enforce. You are correct, our Bylaw allows the city to issue an Order to Comply to the property owner and if the owner does not comply the city will send contractors to clear and then bill the costs to the property taxes. Officers re-check the Ordered properties within 24 hours for compliance and if the owner hasn't cleared the snow, the officer sends a request to our contractors to clear. This does take a few days sometimes as the volumes are higher after a snowfall. In that waiting period for the contractor to clear, If the weather changes, or rains and clears the property itself, we will not bill the owners.

I hope I have addressed your concerns moving forward and if you have any questions or further concerns please reach out to me personally.

Dear Ms. Smith,

My name is Arthur Gallant and I live in apartment building located at Arkledun Avenue in the City of Hamilton.

After the 2 significant snowfalls of this 2019/2020 winter season, the City of Hamilton has refused to clear and de-ice the sidewalks on Arkledun Avenue between Kingsway Drive and John Street South pursuant to City By-Law 03-296. I have complained to Municipal Law Enforcement, Councillor Jason Farr, and Mayor Eisenberger's office. I have been told on several occasions that the City does not have funding to enforce and take action as per the aforementioned by-law due to provincial downloading. I have contacted the province who says regardless of provincial downloading, this issue remains solely within the purview of the city.

The aforementioned by-law allows the city to clear the sidewalks themselves and then add the cost of doing so to the property owner's property taxes. The City has refused to take this step. All they've done is issue notices to comply but not all the property owners have complied. The snowfall take took place over a week ago was the 2nd one this season in which the City allowed the snow and ice to melt instead of clearing it.

This is an issue of accessibility. There are several tenants in my apartment building who use mobility devices. This is not fair to those people and could be easily rectified if the city chose to use its powers within the aforementioned by-laws.

A couple weeks ago, I had surgery. The vibration from the sidewalk being uneven because of the snow and ice caused me substantial pain. The pain was way less when walking on flat surfaces. The City's refusal to act is putting residents with disabilities at a disadvantage.

I would greatly appreciate if you somebody from your office could reach out to me to in order to rectify this issue from happening again in the future.

Yours very truly,

Arthur Gallant

When my first was in kindergarten and my second was a baby the first summer. He was a baby. We lost three strollers. I went through something like twenty-five hundred bucks worth of strollers because businesses and people would not shovel and the wheels would get stuck in slushy snow and snap off. And ultimately I just stopped taking one of my sons to school.

Whenever it's not it's because it just wasn't worth the hassle of walking a kilometer in all that snow with a baby in a stroller. . It was one thing for me as an adult solo say walking to work and going on the street. But there was no way I was taking small kids or a baby onto the street because the sidewalks were impassable.

This is amazing! And such an important issue. I don't drive so we walk to school and even today..no one has shovelled yet so pushing a heavy stroller through the snow to the school which is like a 15 -20 minute walk with my 5 year old also hanging on was the worst! Also our poor older crossing guard has had his driver's license taken away due to medical issues and he has almost the same distance to get to the school and back as we do! I know for a fact he has had several slips the last few years : (as have I and the kids! Thank you for bringing attention to this subject!

Also would like to add that though this winter hasn't been as bad there have been winters where we just couldn't get to the school because of unshovelled sidewalks and the fact that the main road has cars parked on the side walking on the road with children was not a safe option!

One year when my youngest daughter was a baby we actually got stuck in the snow several blocks from the school. Thankfully the older kids kindergarten teacher drove by us parked her car ran all the way back and offered to walk my two older ones the rest of the way because she could see how badly I was struggling with the stroller! Another time a gentleman on his way up the street also ran over to help lift the stroller over some badly snowed patches so there have

Replied to your story

Yes! This is great! I would gladly pay 16$ a year for safe sidewalks. I'm 8 months pregnant and scared to walk my dog around the block when there is snow. Residential houses with corner lots are the worst. They will shovel the front of the house but not the side. Very frustrating. I hope this works!!

Message...

That's fantastic! What a great solution. I don't have any unordinary stories of walking through snowy sidewalks but I do however have this. As I single mama with two small babes I find it extremely hard to get out and shovel, I can't leave my babies in the house by themselves so I can shovel. I often feel horrible that I leave my sidewalk unshovelled but what's a single mama to do? I try my best to get out there and do it but its not so easy. Thank you for you voice, let's see the city hear ya and hope for a great change and solution!!

Great that's a great point I will be taking with me!

Message...

Good Afternoon Nringer,

As a resident of Ward 3, I wanted to share my frustration with residential snow removal. I'm currently on maternity leave, and getting out of the house for a walk with my daughter is something I enjoy (and let's be honest, I need it).

I am disheartened by the lack of care my community has for snow removal. Some make the effort, but fall short when they don't put down salt or sand, or don't clear the crosswalks. It makes pushing a stroller impossible. I encountered another Mom out with her children this morning, who told me she fell while walking, and had her son in a baby carrier.

I know this isn't a hot topic, or one of high priority, but mother to mother, I'm sure you can share in this frustration. Maybe there is a way you can use your social media platform, or even address this at City Hall. From an economic standpoint, Hamilton could stand to make plenty of money by fining those who do not make their sidewalks safe for others.

Just a thought. I appreciate you taking the time to hear my concerns.

Warm Regards,

Lauren Cook
173 Rothsay Ave

Holly Price We just moved here from Toronto and I can't even take my babies out for a walk with the dog until after all the snow has melted. The biggest obstacle would be after a snowplow has come through the neighborhood and all the sidewalks have mountains to climb over. There is no way to get a tandem double stroller around on the sidewalks and people drive like maniacs on the side streets I do not feel comfortable even walking on the residential roads.

Gina da Costa 🇺🇸 Moving from Mississauga to Hamilton I've noticed a lack of snow removal and salting on sidewalks/roadways/alleyways! I was literally stuck in the snow once and had to pull my stroller out. I barely walk to drop and pick up my oldest from school because of this.

Tara Zabella Yes! In Toronto I would always run all winter long, here I wouldn't dare. The sidewalks along main and king are rarely cleared by property owners.

Melissa Macdonald Only about 20 percent of my neighbours shovel their driveways. This means that in order for me to walk my dog with my baby and not risk falling and breaking something that would render me unable to care for both, we stay inside. Walking is a huge part of my life. Not only do my dog and I rely on it for exercise, but to combat isolation in the winter months. We feel trapped in suburbia. And this very much effects my mental well-being.

Post-Secondary Student-Workers and a Living Wage

JAMES WATSON

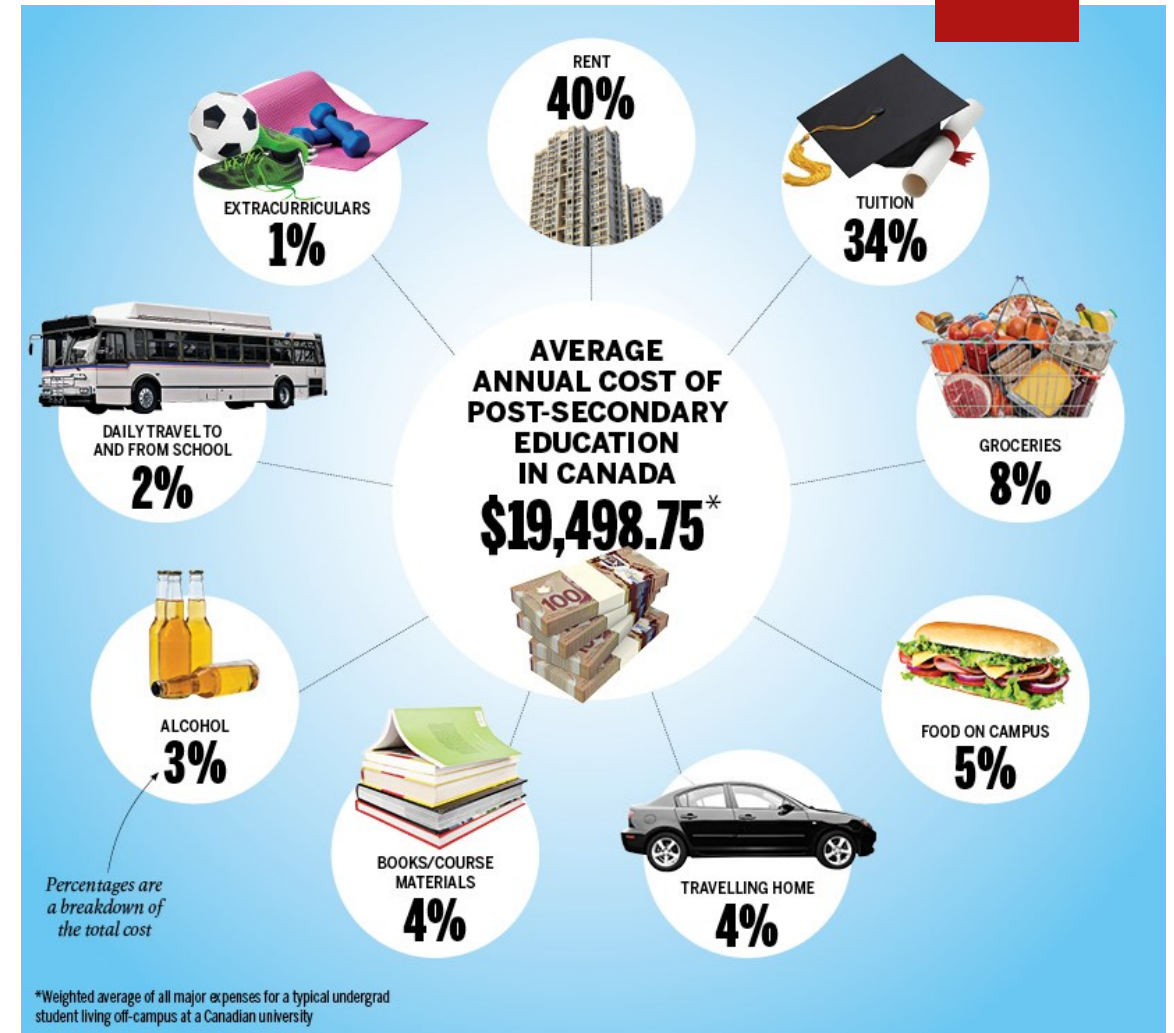

PHD CANDIDATE, DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY, MCMASTER UNIVERSITY

Demographics

- ▶ Between McMaster University and Mohawk College there are over 60,000 students in postsecondary education
- ▶ In Ontario in 2019 during the school months:
 - ▶ 32.5% of full-time students aged 15 to 19 have a job
 - ▶ 42.1% of full-time students aged 20 to 24 have a job
 - ▶ 44.6% of full-time student aged 25 to 29 have a job
- ▶ Students, aged 15 to 24 are the most likely demographic to be minimum wage workers (32.6%)

Student Expenditures

- ▶ Source: Mclean's: The cost of a Canadian university education in six charts
- ▶ Rent @ 40% of $19,500 = $7800/year
- ▶ $650/month
- ▶ Hrs. to earn $650 @ $14/hr = approx. 46hrs/month (before deductions)
 - ▶ Avg. 11.5 hrs/week

Student Incomes

- ▶ Target: $19,500 a year
- ▶ Summer earnings:
 - ▶ May, June, July, August (4 months) @ $14.00 X 40 hrs a week
 - ▶ (16 weeks) x ($14 x 40 hrs)
 - ▶ = $8,960 (before taxes and deductions)
- ▶ School Year earnings:
 - ▶ 8 months part-time work @ $14.00 x 10hrs a week
 - ▶ = $4,480 (before taxes and deductions)
- ▶ Total = $13,440 (a $6,060 shortfall)

Student Debt

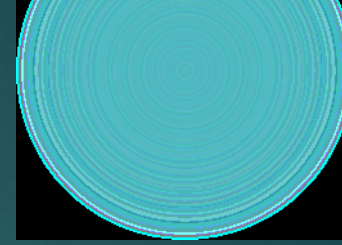

Youth employment and a living wage

- ▶ Research results are inconclusive as to whether raising the minimum wage has a labour displacing effect
- ▶ Experiences of other living wage cities (ex. Seattle, Vancouver) have yielded net benefits for low-wage earners and have not led to the job losses that were predicted
- ▶ Research indicates that significant wage raises could lead to decreases in the growth rate for youth employment over the short-term though also acknowledges that the minimum wage is one factor of many in determining labour market outcomes.

Conclusions

- ▶ The rising costs of living and studying for post-secondary students requires student-workers to be paid a living wage
- ▶ Failure to implement a living wage across the board is likely to lead to a host of adverse consequences including increased working poverty and a growing debt bubble
- ▶ The implementation of a living wage in other places has not demonstrably led to adverse labour market outcomes and may actually have a net benefit by stimulating local demand
- ▶ The need for comprehensive labour market initiatives such as a local Youth Jobs Strategy

Appendixes

A1: Precariousness and Mental Health

- ▶ 26.3% of post-secondary students reported having been diagnosed or treated by a professional for one or more mental health conditions in the last 12 months (with anxiety and depression being the most frequent). (University of Ottawa)
- ▶ “Canadians in the lowest income group are 3 to 4 times more likely than those in the highest income group to report poor to fair mental health.” (Canadian Institute of Health Research)
- ▶ “Young people aged 15 to 24 are more likely to experience mental illness and/or substance use disorders than any other age group.” (Canadian Institute of Health Research)
- ▶ “The economic burden of mental illness in Canada is estimated at $51 billion per year. This includes health care costs, lost productivity, and reductions in health-related quality of life.” (Canadian Institute of Health Research)
