Residential street parking in the Locke neighbourhood is always congested; however there is usually room for a few more cars. Because there are no lines on the street indicating a parking space, sometimes cars are either pulled too far up or too far back that they waste space. I think if the City of Hamilton marks parking spaces on the street it will maximize the number of cars that are able to park at one time. Essentially, there is an opportunity to maximize parking in the Locke neighbourhood by drawing out parking spaces on the streets. I have reviewed residential parking in Niagara-on-the-Lake and I think we can use their model of street parking in Hamilton.
