Subject: BAD IDEA

While the intensification of the urban builds (and limiting urban sprawl) is a good idea..

Doing the following "a plan to axe or reduce parking requirements for developments in Hamilton's residential areas."

IS NOT a good idea.

People in lower city who have cars and no driveways will find it almost next to impossible to find parking. Allowing current houses to be turned into triplexes etc will only compound the issue even further.

Please reconsider...
