AND WHEREAS it is our collective responsibility to create institutions that foster the development of a culture of peace in our neighbourhoods, city and nation;

AND WHEREAS communities across North America have recently experienced tragic incidents of extreme violence.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

- (a) That the City of Hamilton hereby expresses support for legislation to establish a Federal Department of Peace, and urges our members of Parliament to support such legislation;
- (b) That this Department of Peace work collaboratively with the Department of National Defense to reduce violence domestically and promote peace internationally.

Background

In the current context of ongoing violence and conflict, domestically and internationally, it seems timely and appropriate to urge our national government to develop a coordinated plan to bring a greater degree of peace to our communities, wherever it has the authority and influence to do so. A Minister responsible for such a department could advance an agenda for peace by supporting and establishing activities that promote a culture of non-violence in Canada and the world.

Drawing inspiration from similar initiatives in the US, Australia and over 30 other countries, such a Minister's mandate could include objectives such as:

- Developing early detection and rapid response processes to deal with emerging conflicts,
- Leading international efforts to abolish nuclear, biological, chemical weapons, to reduce conventional weapon arsenals and to ban the weaponization of space
- Implementing the UN Declaration and Programme of Action on a Culture of Peace (1999) to safeguard human rights and enhance the security of persons and their communities
- Implementing UN Resolution 1325 on the key role played by women in the wide spectrum of peacebuilding work
- Establishing a Civilian Peace Service that, with other training organizations, will recruit, train and accredit peace professionals and volunteers to work at home and abroad,
- Promoting nonviolent community-building programs such as Restorative Justice, Nonviolent Communication (NVC) and Alternate Dispute Resolution (ADR)
- Supporting the development of peace education at all levels including post-secondary peace and conflict studies.

The Canadian Department of Peace Initiative is a voluntary organization that has been working toward establishing a national department of peace, along with many individuals and organizations including peace and justice organizations, faith communities, artists, choirs, healthcare professionals, teachers, service clubs, cultural communities, businesses, among others. Citizens in over 30 countries are currently promoting departments of peace.
